NAWC Announces Membership in American Board of Nursing Specialties

Glendale WI – April 30, 2005 - The National Alliance of Wound Care (NAWC) has announced today their new membership in the American Board of Nursing Specialties. The ABNS, the only accrediting body specifically for nursing certification, has been granted deemed status by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing. It was incorporated in 1991 to create uniformity in nursing certification and to increase public awareness of the value of certification.

The National Alliance of Wound Care is an organization that is dedicated to the advancement and promotion of excellence in wound care through the certification of wound care practitioners in the United States. The NAWC offers the Wound Care Certification Examination to measure the academic and technical competence of eligible candidates in the area of Skin and Wound Care Management above basic licensure.
